

Mortise and Tenon

Mortise and Tenon is the second most common wood joint. In this diagram a rail with tenon is attached into a post with mortise.

Traditional frame joinery method reduces the chance for joint failure when properly applied and machined.